

----- Original Message -----

From: Miller, J.C.

To: 'sio-hp@nic.in'

Sent: 16/02/2009 11:12 PM

Subject: Your site has been selected by Britannica's editors as a Web's Best Site.

Hello.

Congratulations!

I'm writing with good news: Your website, <http://himachal.nic.in/>, has been selected by the editors here at Encyclopaedia Britannica as a Britannica iGuide site.

The Britannica iGuide is basically our directory of the Web's best sites as determined by our editors. Each year, our editors review and then handpick websites that relate to one or more of our topics and are found to be of top quality. We then present links to these iGuide sites alongside our own content for that topic.

This means that when one of our members searches on a topic within our online encyclopedia that is also relevant to your site, we not only present Britannica information, but also provide a link to <http://himachal.nic.in/> for that topic. If you wish, you can promote the Britannica iGuide "Web's Best Sites" recognition on your website by downloading a small iGuide button from Britannica iGuide information page.

Help Us Stay in Touch with You.

As we may need to communicate with you from time to time regarding your Britannica iGuide Web's Best Sites status, please confirm the best e-mail address to use in contacting you or the appropriate person at your site regarding these types of matters. To do this, simply reply to this e-mail with the following information in the body of your message:

- Your website address
- Your first name
- Your last name
- Your preferred e-mail contact address

Thank you, and please feel free to contact me if you have any questions.

Sincerely,

J.C. Miller
Director - Editorial Content Management
Encyclopaedia Britannica, Inc.
office: (312) 347-7065
j.c.miller@eb.com